Please find enclosed a photograph of the staff at the Royal Gunpowder Mills. We are unsure of the exact date but believe it to have been taken in the mid 1970s.

My uncle, Walter Dennis Warren (known as Dennis), is in the back row third from the right.

Dennis worked at the Mills from the mid 1950s until his retirement in 1987 at age 65. His wife, Pauline, and mother-in-law both worked in the canteen and he used to grow vegetables for them somewhere on the site.

He was not one for talking about his past but I do remember him saying that he used to carry a bucket of sand with a container of nitro-glycerine in it from one part of the mills to another and the policeman on duty would hold up the traffic on the road until he had crossed over.
